ABOUT ME

Susanna is a speaker and an activist for the love of Jesus. With a "We'll See About That" attitude towards seemingly impossible situations, she is determined to believe in the God of the Impossible and is eager to encourage others to do the same. She has seen God working miracles and transformations in her own life, her family and others.

Susanna is an outstanding story teller, she delivers her messages with warmth, authenticity and witty humour. With a prophetic edge to her messages she has a unique way of unpacking the scripture that captures the attention of listeners of all ages and leaves them with an impartation of the Spirit, as well as practical applications that ignite transformation in their lives.

She is regularly speaking at events, conferences, schools and churches around Australia, America and Europe.

Born and raised in Germany, she travels the world bringing a multicultural and international perspective to what she teaches.

Susanna has an amazing testimony to tell, when under the coloured lights and noise of a nightclub God radically intersected her world and became undoubtedly real to her. Since then she is a firm believer that God can use anyone and can speak to you anywhere.

Susanna feels that bragging about your family is perfectly acceptable. They have four children Jessica, David, Kim and Jayden. She and her husband, Markus, live in Melbourne, Australia where they regularly attend Hillsong in Melbourne.
